From a Soldier Boy.

HOBOKEN, N. J., June 10, 1917.

Dear Home Folks—My last message in dear old U. S. A. for a while! We are now on our transport. I am well satisfied with everything and anxious to go. Don't know just when we will start, but will probably be well on our way when this reaches you.

Now, dear parents, I am honest with you and not trying merely to relieve your anxiety, (which I am sure is great because we go so far away) when I tell you that we are both satisfied to go and that we are well quartered and cared for. We are both willing to go anywhere our country needs our service and to serve her anyway we can. If it means life, I'll come again to you and see that your old days are spent in comfort and plenty; if it means death, the Lord will provide and I'm ready to meet the issue. I realize it's a perilous task but it's no more than I expected when I enlisted and we are prepared to meet it with calmness and sternness.

My only grief is for you, mother. I wish I could bear your grief, but since it was God's plan to make a mother's heart so, you must bear it. Thousands of dear old mothers all the way over shouted "God Bless you, Boys!" as they waved their tear-stained handkerchiefs at us. But listen, mother, it's an unavoidable reality and you must use a great deal of calmness and live in hope. For the war may be over in a short time and we'll be back and the happy plans I had once laid be pursued and brought to pass. We are certainly having a great time and the things we are seeing and the useful lessons we are learning daily will be invaluable to us in after years, if we come back. And please don't worry until you have a cause to. We would be perfectly satisfied if we knew everything was O. K. at home. You must not think too seriously about us not being cared for and that we see no pleasure in this adventurous life, for the change in scenery, travel, dealing with thousands of young men, taking care of our clothes, etc., etc., etc., ha, ha, furnish ample amusement and pastime besides being of value.

And for you, dear old Dad, my heart goes out in sympathy. I had planned and was working earnestly to the time when I could take the responsibility from your shoulders. I'm sure it will be hard for you in your old days if we boys don't come back but you too must forget all but the bright side. It won't take me long to finish my course when I get back and then I'll be able to give you a lift.

Well, I would like to tell you all about our trip, but I won't have time and space. Am sending you a R. R. map and have outlined our trip on it since we left home. You have an idea of the country we have seen—from the sandy desert of Arizona to the black, fertile, floodplains of the Great Mississippi.

My! We sure saw some pretty country in Iowa and Illinois. We came through Chicago at night. Didn't see much of it. The country back through that section (or most of it) is level as a floor. There certainly couldn't be a better farming region in the world. Then as we passed on through Pennsylvania and New York we saw some beautiful mountain scenery and manufacturing towns. We certainly enjoyed the trip. All along, the people gave us flowers, oranges, etc., and everybody had their greetings, and good-byes and best wishes, etc. When we would stop at a place, the people would congregate and talk to us. And, gee, the prettiest girls I ever saw. And all of them wants to talk to a soldier boy. One Sunday evening we came through a place and stopped awhile and all the civilian boys who had girls around the depot were left aside, ha, ha! They would want our address. We stopped on side near a silk factory in a town in New York state for awhile one evening and I think the whole works must have shut down, for every window in it was jammed full of girls and we got a volley of kisses "fired" at us. A great many of the boys dropped their addresses off and have already gotten letters from them. I didn't drop mine off as I didn't care to write to them, though I'm sure they were some very fine girls. I read a letter from one of them this morning and it was excellent.

Mother, hope you got my cards all right. I mailed three along at different places. We were on the road eight days. Had nice tourist cars to travel in. There were six train loads of 18 cars each. And I sent my medal, letter and handkerchief home from Douglas the day I left. Hope you got them O. K. We got papa's letter all right. Was sure glad to hear from him. And we got the nicest letters from Aunt Grace! I think lots of her and would sure like to see her. Had a card from Carr saying they would leave Georgia soon. Do wish we could have stayed together.

No, sweet little sis, I guess it would be useless to send us any popcorn. Bless your little heart! We get lots of fruit and good things to eat, honey, so you just eat the popcorn for us and it will do us a lot more good. We got Louise's card to-day. Was sure glad to hear from her. Have heard from a great many at home. Would like to write to everybody but we can hardly get a chance to write much. We're nearly always busy or moving. Would like to write a piece for the REGISTER, too, if I get a chance. Maybe I'll have time on the trip. Now if you folks don't hear from us for a month don't be uneasy for it takes a letter a long time to reach its destination through foreign mails and all of it is inspected, too, so you see it takes time. I'll try and write often though. I am sending you some clippings I got out of the El Paso Herald. I wonder if Jesse Jackson was at Mineral Point?

Give our best regards to Tuts and tell her I'll write to her when I get time. And say, Sis, I wish you would write to Miss Wheeler, Cape Girardeau, Mo., Normal School, and tell her I wish to renew my application for work during coming spring and summer terms. She will understand all if you just drop a card to that effect.

They are working on our boat day and night. It's sure a stout old fellow. They are loading it up and fixing the deck and sleeping quarters, mounting guns and getting it in fine shape. There are thirteen ships of us. I hear there will be ten warships accompany us besides submarine chasers. We can look out across the harbor and see New York City. Would like to go over but don't guess I'll have a chance. We can go out on the dock any time and watch the ships land. We are at the dock loading. It's sure a sight to see so many ships. We have seen no ocean liners yet, but there are lots of freight ships. Say, I met Jim Talley here this evening. He was tickled to death to see me. Said Alva and that Huddleson were in the 35th Inf. somewhere in Arizona. I think he is going to be on our ship.

Tell Perry I'll write to him soon. With all good wishes, love and prayers to all.
Ed. A. REED,
Co. H. 18th Infantry.

"God be with you till we meet again."

Please answer soon and address it to Hoboken and we'll get it O. K. George said he'd write next time.

[The foregoing letter is from Edwin A. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed, of Des Arc. He and his brother, George, landed in France about two weeks ago. They are the first of the Des Arc boys to get to Europe. We will be glad to hear from them again.—Ed. REGISTER.]

Memorial to C. N. Henry.

(West Plains Gazette.)

West Plains business houses closed last Friday as a tribute of respect to the late Charles Norton Henry during the hours of his funeral. The M. E. church, South, where the memorial services were held, was filled with sorrowing friends long before the flower covered casket was placed in the center of a huge bank of flowers before the altar.

"Abide With Me" was sweetly sung as the solemn procession passed down the aisle, the pall bearers being Messrs. Joe Ald, Fred Toler, Guy Buck, Howard Kellet, Dr. Ed Hogan and Ros Reed. The honorary pall bearers were Wayne Langston, Will H. Zorn, J. O'Neal Carter, S. C. Wheeler, Jack Hogan and Felix Halstead, all twelve being members of Mt. Zion Lodge A. F. and A. M.

Elder M. T. Pope, of the Christian church, read the scripture and Rev. E. C. Atkins, pastor of the M. E. church, South, of which Mr. Henry was a devoted member, followed with prayer, paying a glowing tribute to the goodness of his life from which a lesson could be learned, for friends without number called him blessed and he died but to live again.

The useful life of Charles Norton Henry, cut short in young manhood, was reviewed by Elder Pope, who told how Mr. Henry's father, being a minister of the M. E. church, South, he was born and reared in the faith, and his entire life was a bright and shining example throughout which we could all emulate. Father Thos. F. Dalton, of St. Mary's Catholic church, who was an intimate friend and neighbor of the deceased, paid a pretty tribute to the life of his good friend, whom he honored and loved and respected and whose lips were sealed—whose earthly testament was now but clay—all in sorrow following him on the last and journey.

Rev. Atkins said that Mr. Henry was one of the leading business men of West Plains, who had been taken away in the prime of life, when his young manhood most called for his services to his family and his country. . . . At the funeral were the bereaved wife of the deceased, his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Nelson B. Henry, and sister, Miss Lucretia Henry, of Arcadia, Mo., and his brother, Crane Henry, and wife, of Rector, Ark. Two other brothers were unable to attend the funeral. They are John Henry, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Lawson Henry, who is in the officers' training camp at Fort Riley, Kansas.

The funeral procession from the church to Oak Lawn cemetery—the home of homes—the last home, was one of the largest ever known in the city. There were a great many floral offerings of surpassing profusion and beauty. These were at the church, on the casket and surrounding the grave. The Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Henry was a member, held a very impressive ceremony at the grave.

Charles Norton Henry was a devoted husband and a dutiful and loving son. To his brothers and sister a tender brother and to his friends the soul of fellowship and honor. But the greatest of all he was a man and as a man it is that those who knew him best love to contemplate him. He believed that the man who scattered flowers in the pathway of his fellow-men, who lets into the dark places of life the sunshine of human sympathy and human kindness, is following in the footsteps of his Master. Such was the man, who being dead, yet speaketh.

Downward Course

Fast Being Realized by Ironton People.

A little backache at first. Daily increasing 'till the back is lame and weak. Urinary disorders may quickly follow.

Dropsy and often Bright's disease. This frequently is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of an Ironton citizen. Mrs. M. J. Harris, Second St., Ironton, says: "My kidneys caused me much suffering and my back ached and pained. I could hardly do my work and felt all run down. My kidneys were irregular in action, too. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills that I got from the Arcadia Valley Drug Co., and they strengthened my back, ridding me of all symptoms of kidney complaint. I was benefited in every way and in return I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Harris had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

What Brand of Religion?

(Greenville Journal.)

A revival meeting has just closed in Greenville. It was not one of the shouting, trail-hitting sort of revivals, the number of its converts probably does not speak for all the good that it did. And following its closing, it is not too much to expect some practical demonstration of the Christian spirit of the community. For after all if our spiritual exaltation does not make some manifestation by generous charity or concern in the welfare of others, and is solely confined to regular attendance at church or foregoing the four cardinal sins of modern times, card playing, drinking, gambling and swearing, it can be doubted whether or not our exaltation is of the real Christian brand. As this is written, we have in mind a picture which has lately confronted us, that of three little lonesome children, dirty, forlorn and neglected. Without playmates, without mother, without care, only that which can be given them by a hard working father when hours of labor are over. Hungry, no doubt, ragged, yes. Not always ragged for on Sunday, a hot July Sunday, the little girls can dress up and swelter in hot flannel dresses. It is all that they have. Without opportunity, denied school and Sunday School, Fourth of July just another hot day for them and Christmas another cold

A Preacher's Life.

A preacher has a hard time. If his hair is gray, he is old. If he is a young man, he hasn't had experience. If he has ten children he has too many. If he has none he should have, and isn't setting a good example. If his wife sings in the choir, she is presuming. If she doesn't she isn't interested in her husband's work. If a preacher reads from notes he's a bore. If he speaks extemporaneously, he isn't deep enough. If he stays at home in his study he doesn't mix with the people. If he is seen around on the streets, he ought to be at home getting up a good sermon. If he calls on a poor family he is playing to the grandstand. If he calls at the home of the rich he is an aristocrat. Whatever he does someone could have told him how to do it better. He has a time living off donations which never come in, and promises that never mature. Next to being a country editor is an awful life.—Auburn (Ky.) Journal.

Helps Sick Women

For more than 40 years, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has been helping weak, sick women, back to health, as proven by the thousands of letters we receive, every year, similar to the following from Mrs. A. Peru, of Leavenworth, Ind. She says: "About six years ago, I began the use of Cardui for female weakness. I suffered such fearful bearing-down pains. . . I was indeed a nervous wreck for 4 years. I couldn't do my household work. I was in bed most of the time."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

She continues: "At night I was restless and couldn't sleep. I had no appetite, in fact was a misery to myself and every one else. . . I continued in this condition until finally I began the Cardui Home Treatment. I used . . . Cardui regular until I took a number of bottles. It cured me. I was well. And I believe I would have died had I not found this relief."

If you suffer from pain caused from womanly troubles, or if you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic to build up your run-down system, try Cardui. We believe it will help you.
